What you will gain from this year's meeting!

Over the past decade or so, tremendous progress in the treatment of genitourinary (GU) cancers has led to improved outcomes for patients, but has also made clinical management of these malignancies more complex. We are excited to announce the 1st Annual European Congress on Genitourinary Cancers™, a comprehensive educational conference designed to help practitioners place emerging information into the context of landmark clinical trial data and established standards of care, ultimately improving the care they provide to their patients with GU cancers.
